MANIFESTING THE DREAM

HIGHLIGHTS REPORT

Manifesting the Dream with We, The World

A project for MLK National Day of Service and 40 Days of Peace

In partnership with Compassion Games International

WE.net - WE.net/MLK

(Visit to watch replays of all events)

Inspired by the 25th Anniversary of the MLK National Day of Service, and MLK 40 Days of Peace, We, The World, with leaders from across the country, took action in a variety of ways to carry forward the Work and Legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in the 21st Century. Working together, these leaders created Community Service Projects, produced Interactive Broadcasts, Workshops and other activities that Inspired, Informed, and Involved over 18,000 volunteer participants, bringing forth words and actions of peace and love to the people of The United States and to the World.

We began our MLK 40 Days of Peace Project on January 15, 2021, by participating in an MLK Online Birthday Celebration via Zoom hosted by Jon Ramer and the Compassion Games. This was followed by We, The World's "Manifesting the Dream Preview with WE Team Members" Opening Interactive Broadcast, to celebrate the 25th Anniversary of the MLK National Day of Service (MAKE IT A DAY ON, NOT A DAY OFF) with over 1,739 Volunteer Participants, Direct Reach of 1,996.

WE broadcast 29 events throughout The 40 Days of Peace with 44 Guest Speakers from 26 Organizations

Thanks to the magic of social media, WE has been able to reach a huge audience - worldwide - via our broadcasts, correspondence and Global Unity Calendar.

With deep gratitude to our many dynamic members of our CORE TEAM COORDINATORS who have founded social justice organizations themselves, WE has greatly expanded the WE Consciousness that MLK himself spoke of in his too-short time on Earth during the turbulent era of the Civil Rights Movement.

This report documents the service activities created by these incredible torchbearers who carry on in the spirit of the compelling message of Martin Luther King, Jr., who proclaimed, "I have a dream..."

I participated in the MLK Broadcast Dismantling Racism Part 3 – The Future, and I was truly changed just by being there. It led me into a new world of giving and learning and acting, and has had me thinking a lot more lately about what I can do to be the change I'd like to see in the world. Being on that panel also gave me strength, in hearing my own voice and knowing that I carry the wisdom of my elders with me; that was revolutionary for me and my self-image. I know now that I have the power to change the world, just as each and every one of us does, and that I can be persistent about change in order to inspire others to do the same.

-Brianna S.

Here I am on a Monday night working with a wonderful women named Sue Blythe. She works with the organization called We The World and she tries her best to make the world a better place. I have been meeting with her for months now, and some interesting projects have popped up, so get ready for those.

Thank you Sue for all the support though out these months and beyond. Thank you for giving me that little shove that I needed to wake up. Thank you for all the opportunities you have given me. Thank you for everything.

WORLD HOUSE CLIMATE CONVERSATION WITH CHARTER FOR COMPASSION / RELIGION, SPIRITUALITY, INTERFAITH SECTOR

Youth and Elders discuss this quote and ways it can be brought to life through the visual, performing and language arts.

This is the great new problem of mankind. We have inherited a big house, a great "world house" in which we have to live together – black and white, Easterners and Westerners, Gentiles and Jews, Catholics and Protestants, Moslem and Hindu, [HUMANS AND NATURE] – a family unduly separated in ideas, culture, and interests who, because we can never again live without each other, must learn, somehow, in this one big world, to live with each other. – Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr Nobel Peace Prize Lecture, 1964

RACISM, HISTORY & LIES WITH MAX DASHU

This visual webcast shows how distortions of history have been used to justify white supremacist beliefs, and still function as an ideological template for domination. We examine the assumptions embedded in naming and language: “the March of Civilization,” “barbarism,” “progress,” and phrases like “Old World” and “New World.” What is left out in talk about “The Ancient World,” “the Classics,” “the Canon.” We look at pseudo-scientific race theories of “Caucasoids” and Others; attempts to whiten the Egyptians; stereotypes of Indigenous peoples in the Americas; Black South Asians and Australasians, and how narratives of “vanishing” peoples cover up historical genocides. It’s not just textbooks; white supremacy is also propagated in novels, movies, advertising, comics, public monuments, and maps. We finish with a glimpse of the cultural achievements and treasures from cultures that most people are never taught about.

Max Dashu founded the Suppressed Histories Archives in 1970 to research women in the global cultural record. From her collection of some 50,000 images, Dashu has created and presented hundreds of slideshows at universities, community centers, bookstores, conferences, festivals, schools and libraries, internationally. She is the author of Witches and Pagans: Women in European Folk Religion, and the forthcoming Pythias, Melissae and Pharmakides: Women in Hellenic Culture. She also publishes videos, such as Woman Shaman: the Ancients and Women’s Power in Global Perspective. She teaches with images via her online courses, webcasts, videos, the Suppressed Histories Facebook website and FB page. See www.suppressedhistories.net
